Where reputation matters

YOUR LOCAL COMPANY

Welcome to Goring Glazing

Windows and doors chosen for your home, with straightforward advice from people who understand installation.

Door and living-space inspiration from our social media posts.

Our story

We at Goring Glazing would like to take this opportunity to give you, the reader, a brief history of our company.

I started my career in double glazing as an apprentice at the age of 16 working for a local company and learning all aspects of the trade.
In 2011 by the age of 22, I felt it was time to go it alone and set up Goring Glazing.
For the first few years I operated as a sole trader building my reputation in the industry.
In as little as three years we had built up a large customer base and became limited and VAT registered.
Goring Glazing Ltd has now been strongly established for 15 years and have been growing with each passing year.
We are a family run company with my wife running the office and my father as book keeper.
We pride ourselves with our customer services and high standards of workmanship.
We are also pleased to have been able to offer multiple apprenticeships to individuals willing to learn this trade.

We would like to end this by thanking all our past and future customers for their ongoing support of our local company.

WINDOWS

A better fit for your home

From a familiar casement to a bay that preserves the character of your property.

Casement windows

Opening outwards from the side or top, casements suit many different properties. Combine opening and fixed sections to balance ventilation, views and the proportions of each room.

Bay and shaped windows

A bay is a defining part of a home. We can discuss frame layouts, opening sections and shaped designs so that the replacement complements the property and its original character.

Understanding window security. Internal glazing beads retain the glass from the room side. Multipoint locking secures an opening sash at several positions around the frame. Our supplier offers enhanced security specifications; we can explain the hardware and specification available for your chosen design and confirm what is included in your quotation.

Strength where it matters

Robust profiles, reinforcement at critical points and anti-jemmy features help resist attack.

Secure from the inside

Internal glazing beads help prevent glass being removed from outside.

Locking handles

Hook bolts

Locks that work together

Hook bolts and deadbolts engage with the frame to help keep the door secure.

Cylinder and handle options

Ask about cylinder and handle combinations with protection against common attack methods.

Protection for patio doors

High-security anti-jacking systems and multipoint hook locks are available on the specified range.

The right specification for your home

PAS 24 and Secured by Design requirements depend on the complete product specification. Additional components or laminated glass may be required.

WINDOW STYLES

Character in every detail

Choose frame lines, opening layouts and finishing details that suit your home.

Flush sash windows

A flush sash sits level with the outside of the frame when closed. Its clean lines can complement traditional properties and contemporary homes.

Talk to us about the finishes, glazing and hardware available for your chosen range.

Plan your window layout

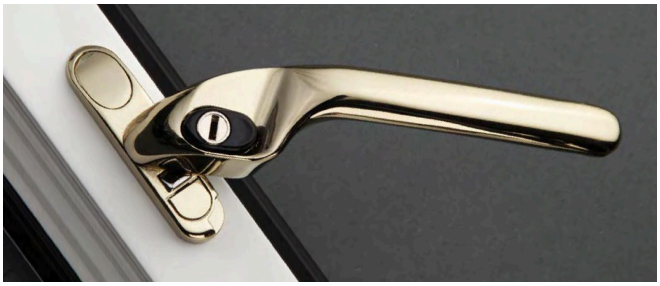

Fixed and opening sections can be arranged around the way you use each room. We can discuss ventilation, views and how the frame proportions look from outside.

For bay windows, we help you consider the complete shape and layout of the replacement.

THE FINISHING DETAILS

Make the details your own

Choose the colour, glass and hardware that bring the whole installation together.

Handles and hardware

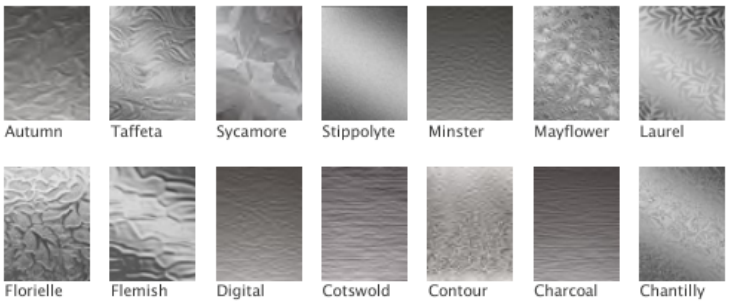

From a restrained contemporary handle to a more traditional style, the finishing details make a difference. Ask about the options available for your chosen frame and, for exposed locations, suitable corrosion resistant finishes.

A SELECTION OF FRAME FINISHES

Glazing for comfort and privacy

We can discuss double and triple glazing options where available, together with patterned glass for bathrooms, entrances and overlooked rooms. Performance depends on the selected frame and glazing combination.

DOORS TO YOUR GARDEN

Open up your living space

Compare the way each door opens and how you want to move between your home and garden.

Bifold doors

Panels fold and stack to the side to create a broad opening. We can plan the panel count, stacking direction and everyday access arrangement around the space available.

Sliding patio doors

Panels slide along a track, making them useful where a swinging door would take up space. Consider the view, the opening width and how you will use the threshold.

French doors

A pair of hinged doors gives a familiar connection to the garden. We can discuss opening direction, side panels and the room needed around each door.

CONSERVATORIES

More room to enjoy your home

A conservatory designed around your property, your garden and the way you use the space.

Choose the shape and style

Classic, lean-to and bespoke arrangements offer different ways to use the space. We can discuss the footprint, door positions and window openings before you settle on a design.

Think about light and comfort

The roof and glazing affect brightness and temperature. Your preferences, the direction the room faces and the proposed construction all help determine a suitable specification.

Explore the possibilities. Whether you prefer a glazed roof or want to discuss a more enclosed roof design, we can help you compare the options for the project.

CONSERVATORY IMPROVEMENTS

A new chapter for your space

Review the roof, windows and doors together when improving an existing conservatory.

Roof and glazing detail from our social media posts.

Discuss your roof options

A roof replacement can change the look and feel of an existing space. We can discuss glazed or more enclosed roof options, the internal finish and the amount of daylight you want to retain.

Start with the existing structure

The supporting frames, foundations and connections must suit the proposed work. Each project needs an assessment before the scope, specification and any necessary approvals can be established.

Tell us what you want to improve. Is the room too bright, difficult to heat, noisy in the rain or simply ready for a new look? Explaining how you use it helps us focus the discussion on what matters to you.

REPAIRS AND SERVICING

Repair before you replace

A faulty part does not always mean you need a complete new window or door.

Misted double glazing

Moisture between the panes can indicate a failed sealed unit. Where the frame is suitable, replacing the glass unit may be an option.

Hinges handles and locks

We can assess stiff opening windows, damaged hinges, broken handles and locking faults, and discuss replacement parts or repairs where appropriate.

Doors that are hard to close

An adjustment or service may help restore operation. We will assess the cause and explain what work is suitable rather than assuming a replacement is required.

HOW TO GET STARTED

01

Send the details

Tell us what is wrong and send photographs if possible.

02

Discuss the options

We assess the issue and explain the proposed work.

03
